September 27, 2020:

Hymns and Variations*

Dr. Lynn Trapp, Concert Organist

As a congregation, during the Pandemic, we are not able to sing together as we worship. Here is an opportunity to revel in well-known sacred hymntunes, as Dr. Lynn Trapp, concert organist brings them to life with a dash of history, fanfare and festive variations on the Schantz pipe organ.

October 18, 2020:

Pianist Michael Angelucci*

Join acclaimed concert pianist, Michael Angelucci, for a solo recital of music by Schubert, Chopin -- and more! Throughout the program, Dr. Angelucci will provide historical perspective and personal reflections on each piece being performed.

November 8, 2020: *

Lisa Weiss, Piano and Bagus Wiswakarma, Violin

Violinist Bagus Wiswakarma and pianist Lisa Weiss, faculty members at Opus Community Music School, team up to perform Hungarian composer Bela Bartok's fiery "Romanian Folk Dances" (1915) and Franco-Belgian composer Cesar Franck's monumental Sonata in A major (1886). Dr. Weiss, Professor Emeritus of Music at Goucher College, will offer brief remarks on each work.

February 14, 2021:

The Choirs of Calvert Hall College High School

Director: George Wilkerson, Director of Vocal Music and Assistant Director of Instrumental Music. A regular feature of our series since its inception this talented group of student musicians inspire with their performance.

Following the performance, there will be a Mardi Gras celebration, details on our website!

April 18, 2021:

Apex Brass Quintet

Formed in 2018 and named second prize winners of the 2020 Bucharest International Music Competition, Apex Brass takes pleasure in showcasing the highest levels of brass musicianship. Having studied at some of the finest conservatories and music schools in the world and regularly performing for Presidents, dignitaries, military leaders, and full military funerals in their day jobs; Apex has performed extensively throughout the Mid-Atlantic region.

May 16, 2021:

The Baltimore Mandolin Orchestra

Mark Linkins, Music Director. This concert will highlight the wide range of musical talents within the Baltimore Mandolin Orchestra. A select chamber ensemble drawn from the BMO membership, joined by soprano Beatrice Gilbert, will present a program featuring a diverse mix of musical genres.
